6 PERSONS METED PEN SENTENCES, 18 OTHERS ARE INDICTED BY COURT

3 Are Indicted
In Death Of Mrs.
Rissie Day, Age 75

Six persons were meted penitentiary sentences and 18 others indicted during the February term of Morgan circuit court, which concluded here Wednesday.

Four defendants pleaded guilty this week and received sentences.

Jesse Swanson, a colored youth from Georgia who was arrested after breaking into the store of J. A. Oldfield & Sons at Mize Sunday, Jan. 7, pleaded guilty Tuesday and was meted a sentence of one year on a charge of storehouse breaking. Two other young men were indicted in the same robbery but have not yet been apprehended.

In the case of stealing from a public building against Johnnie Cole, Lonnie Cole, and Kenneth Dalton, the indictment against Johnnie Cole was dismissed because of lack of evidence, and indictments against the other two were amended to storehouse breaking. Lonnie Cole and Dalton both pleaded guilty to the charge and each was given one year sentence.

Evelene Stevens of Elliott County pleaded guilty to issuing a forged check to D. B. Gullett and was meted a two-year sentence, which was probated by the court when it was made known she had made restitution for the forged amount.

Leonard Riggsby received a two-year sentence on a plea of guilty to child desertion.

The murder case against Sam D. Owens for the slaying of a neighbor, Ben Adkins, near Gordon Ford was continued to the May term of court.

Charges of involuntary manslaughter against Sena Alice Williams, Tommy Ison, Thurman Ison, and Andy Wright in the death of Jack Williams in December of 1968 were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Ray Bolin, who was meted a two-year sentence by a jury last week that adjudged him guilty of arson in the burning of a residence belonging to Lewis Cantrell on Williams Creek, filed motion and grounds for an appeal and was released on bond.

3 Indicted In Day Case

The grand jury, which completed a five-day session Monday, returned indictments against three persons in the robbery and fatal beating of Mrs. Rissie Steel Day, 75-year-old widow of Ollie C. Day, at her country home near West Liberty Jan. 17.

Earl Ray Perkins, 20, and Leslie Hlibbens, 19, were each indicted on three counts—robbery, rape, and murder—in the Day tragedy, and they were ordered held without bond. Their cases are set for the May term of court.

Third person indicted in the Day tragedy was Hershel Blair, 25, of White Oak, who was charged with being an accessory before the fact of robbery, rape and murder of Mrs. Day. (Continued on page two)

BURLEY INCOME PAST $2,200,000

Although tobacco allotments were cut 10 percent, last year's burley crop in Morgan county has brought in $2,200,029.34, according to checks clearing through the Commercial Bank in West Liberty to date.

The $2,200,029.34 figure was reached this week on the basis of 3,515 checks clearing through the bank.

The county's 1970 burley income was only $56,628.08 less than the $2,256,655.42 received in Morgan for the 1969 crop when more acreage was harvested.

BLUE DEVILS TO WIND UP SEASON FRIDAY AT HOME

The Morgan County High Blue Devils, riddled by flu, lost two games in recent action, falling, 84-65, to Wolfe County last Friday and losing to Fleming County, 105-73, Tuesday evening. Both games, on the road, were played without the services of starting guards Tim Keller and Mike Blanton, out with the flu.

At Campton last Friday, Terry Stacy and Steve Ratliff, who came off the bench to replace Keller and Blanton at the guard positions, scored 10 points each. Center Jim Hill collected 27 points and forward Cliff Smith scored 15. However, Wolfe County's Willis Agce scored 39 points to lead his team to an easy victory.

At Flemingsburg Tuesday evening, Cliff Smith led Morgan's losing effort with 29 points and Jim Hill scored 23. Also adding a bit of luster to the Blue Devil attack was Steve Ratliff, filling in at guard with 14 points.

Fleming County had three men in double figures, Bowling with 37 points, and Evans and Dudley with 22 each.

The Devils, sporting a 9-12 record, were to play powerful Maytown in a makeup bout last night and will wind up regular scheduled play at home Friday when they take on Jackson.

District tournament action starts next week.

Young Democrat Meeting Saturday

Joe Lykins, Morgan county young Democrat manager for the Combs-Carroll campaign ticket, announces that a county-wide meeting of Young Democrats is to be held Saturday night of this week in the court house starting at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Lykins invites all interested Young Democrats in the county to attend.

61ST DIST. NET TOURNAMENT IS SET NEXT WEEK

MOREHEAD, KY. — Rowan County and Menifee County are opening game foes in the 61st District Basketball Tournament scheduled March 3, 5 and 6 at Morehead State University.

The Rowan-Menifee game is set Wednesday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Laughlin Fieldhouse.

No tournament games are booked Thursday, March 4. The MSU Eagles are hosting Eastern Kentucky that night in their final home game of the season.

Tourney play resumes with a doubleheader Friday, March 5. Defending champion Morgan County meets Ezel at 7 p.m. and host University Breckinridge tangles with the Rowan-Menifee winner at 8:30 p.m.

The championship game will be Saturday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m. No consolation game is planned.

Officials for the three-night tournament are Robert Bell and Ray Varner, both of Lexington. Tickets are $1 in advance and $1.50 at the gate.

Breck Principal Rondal D. Hart is tournament manager.

LITTLE BOY NEEDS BLOOD CAN YOU HELP?

Anyone in Elliott County with O negative blood, would you please notify Mrs. Wayne Whitt, telephone number 738-5262.

This type blood is needed for Ray Waddell's two-year-old son who was born with two holes in his heart, and who will undergo open heart surgery in Lexington May 6 in an attempt to correct the defect.

If anyone has this type blood and can give, please contact Mrs. Whitt by calling the above number or writing her at Route 3, box 177, Olive Hill, Ky. 41164. It is a matter of life or death.

Without an adequate supply of whole blood the surgery is impossible.

Monitor Plans Extensive Drilling In Three Counties

Well At Moon Is Past 9,200 Feet
Still A-Drilling

Drillers for Monitor Petroleum Corporation of New York were down past 9,200 feet Tuesday in the deepest well in Eastern Morgan near Moon post office and were about half way through the basal sand (the Cambrian), according to estimates by Bink Strickland, Monitor's division manager.

Strickland said Monitor probably would go about 200 feet deeper in the Moon well. At that depth they should be near the granite, or basement rock, and could make adequate tests of the basal sands, he said.

So far the Cambrian has shown no oil or gas in exciting amounts at the Moon test well. But the Moon drilling has revealed that all structures above the Cambrian were running about 300 feet higher than in the Elliott deep-test at Stevens, some 15 miles to the north. However, the basal structure was about level with the Stevens well.

This could indicate that drillers are on the edge of an uplift at Moon—an uplift of all structures above the Cambrian, that is.

Monitor reported a big flow of oil at 4,800-4,900 feet in the Rose Run section of the Knox, also some gas in the Moon test well. A drill-stem test indicated a production of about 400 barrels of oil daily in the Rose Run, Strickland said.

Since drilling the 9,600 foot test in Elliott last year, Monitor has acquired 68,000 acres of leases in four eastern Kentucky counties—Morgan, Elliott, Lawrence and Johnson—and is planning extensive drilling operations on these leases.

The Elliott and Morgan deep wells were drilled on a farm-out arrangement with Ashland Oil Co. But Strickland this week indicated Monitor would sink a number of wells individually on its own acreage in Lawrence, Elliott and Morgan, and a few in Johnson.

He said Monitor plans 15 to 20 wells to the Berea, corniferous and shale in western Lawrence where it owns 24,000 acres of leases; about 10 production wells in Morgan where it owns about 14,000 acres; and another deep well in eastern Elliott to offset the Stevens lease.

"And if we get production we think we will get, the drilling could be unlimited," Strickland told this paper.

Monitor already has spent about $755,000 on the deep tests in Elliott and Morgan, he said.

Monitor also has drilled some shallow wells deeper in (Continued on page eight)

THIS IS FFA WEEK — County Judge Gene Allen has proclaimed this week (Feb. 20-27) as FFA Week in Morgan County. Looking on as Judge Allen signs the proclamation are James Fugate, president of the Ezel FFA Chapter, left, and Carl Elam, secretary of the Morgan County FFA Chapter. National FFA Week is observed annually during the week of George Washington's birthday.

RATE INCREASES SOUGHT BY TWO UTILITIES SERVING MORGAN CO.

Hearings Set For
Requests By Elam
Utility And RECC

Two utilities serving customers in Morgan County have applied to the Kentucky Public Service Commission for rate increases.

They are Elam Utility, West Liberty gas company, and Licking Valley RECC, which serves 8,100 customers in Morgan, Wolfe, Breathitt, and Magoffin Counties.

The West Liberty gas company is requesting an annual rate increase of 13.5 percent. The RECC is asking an annual rate increase of 14.2 percent.

Hearings on both proposals have been scheduled for March 27 in the Public Service Commission Office in Frankfort.

Both the gas firm and the RECC say climbing cost of gas and electric power from suppliers has made rate increases necessary.

B. C. Phillips said Elam Utility's decision to seek a rate increase results from a 12 percent increase in the cost of gas his firm purchases from Kentucky Gas Transmission Corp. of Charleston, W. Va.

Phillips said the 13.5 percent increase, if approved, would amount to an average rate increase of 7 cents per day per customer.

Licking Valley RECC Office Manager James W. Elam said the coop's application for a 14.2 percent increase, if approved, will be smaller than increases granted to neighboring cooperatives. Some, he said, have requested increases as high as 23 percent.

Elam said electric power, which cost the RECC more than $500,000 last year, will cost the cooperative an additional $158,000 in 1971. This increase, he said, is due partly to climbing costs of fossil fuels needed to generate electricity.

Licking Valley RECC buys its electricity from East Kentucky RECC, headquartered at Winchester.

Elam said that if approved, the 14.2 percent rate increase will mean that a customer will pay $6.39 for the first 100 kilowatt hours of electricity, an increase of 52 cents over the present $5.78 charge for the first 100 kwh.

The increase for the first 400 kwh, Elam said, would be $17.2.

Letters informing members of the upcoming hearing were mailed by the Cooperative Monday.

INSURRECTION IN THE HILLS??

Woe is coming to the hills, and maybe insurrection.

A bluegrass distillery (Brown-Forman) is mounting a $6 million campaign to introduce a new white dry liquor, and government bureaucrats have ordered sassafras roots banned, claiming sassafras tea produces drug-like effects.

Seems Bluegrass millionaires want to take over the white whiskey business so long localized in the hills—but with a change. They will make it lighter and dryer (milder) to please the fancy of more and more feminine drinkers, which a survey shows is needed in the social world to retain some of the market that's going to Scotch and vodka.

But banning sassafras tea—that's the straw that may break the mountaineer's calm. White lightning from the hills can still compete with the new light dry liquor from the Bluegrass, at least for the drinker who wants a kick. But can the hills do without its sassafras tea? And will hillsmen obey government bureaucrats?

But then there's just too many drives being mounted against the hills—splitting counties in reapportioning legislative districts, promising merger amounts in revenue-sharing, cutting tobacco allotments, stripping tops of hills and shipping our coal to Japan.

And now, millionaires brewing white whiskey and government bureaucrats banning sassafras tea?

Well, there might be insurrection in the hills.

LAST CHANCE FOR STRIP MINING

(The New York Times)

Human and environmental damage attributable to the coal industry has been staggering. Tens of thousands of miners have been killed or crippled. Countless others cough out their shortened lives as victims of various respiratory diseases.

Uncontrolled fires smolder underground in abandoned mines. Surface lands subside and collapse because of worked-out mines below. Acids from mining operations drain into streams and rivers, polluting and ruining them.

The destruction is getting worse. Surface mining, which "strips" the land of its topsoil and levels its trees to get at the coal, is a booming business. The new Federal law to make working conditions safer in the underground mines has encouraged owners to shut down marginal mines and turn increasingly to stripping. The loss of soil-cover heightens the risk of flood, while lower topsoil chokes mountain streams.

In response to this accelerating menace, President Nixon proposes a program of closer regulation by the states, with the Federal Government having back-up authority to intervene if necessary. The poor record of the states on this problem is not encouraging, but an aggressive Federal-state program is worth one last try.

Strip-mine operators and major users of coal such as the Tennessee Valley Authority have to recognize that public patience is wearing thin and that if the President's program of regulation and land reclamation does not work, the alternative is to ban strip mining.

Representative Heckler of West Virginia, a major strip-mining state, has already moved to this position. He believes that strip mining is a traumatic attack on the environment, and that no amount of regulation or restoration can reconcile it with a decent attitude toward the land. Representative Heckler and 27 other Congressmen from fourteen states have introduced a bill to phase out all strip mining in six months.

Genuinely strict regulations could conceivably prevent the worst abuses. For example, the Secretary of the Interior could prohibit strip mining on the steep Appalachian Mountain slopes of West Virginia and Kentucky by ruling that no state could allow stripping on slopes of more than a certain number of degrees. An effectively enforced land reclamation program could make many strip-mining operations unprofitable.

If strip-mine operators are not to go the way of the employers of child labor and the sweatshop manufacturers of yesterday, then they will have to cooperate in a thorough reform of industry practices. President Nixon's program is their last chance.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

major causes of air pollution include rock quarries and asphalt mixing plants, burning dumps, burning "gob" piles, saw mills, steel mills, coke plants, paper mills, chemical plants and coal fired heating equipment. Nevertheless, the internal combustion engine is the leading polluter according to U. B. Yeager, engineering consultant for the Kentucky Air Pollution. According to Yeager, in heavy traffic, idling internal combustion engines of cars and trucks are not used at a rate of speed necessary for efficient burning of fuel. A high percentage of carbon monoxide emerges about a foot from the ground. Movement of cars make it circulate to about head height.

SASSAFRAS TEA TRIPS?

The Courier-Journal's Joe Cresson reports that a national grocery chain has been directed to remove all sassafras roots from its shelves because it has been informed that sassafras tea has been declared to have drug-like effects on drinkers. And, comments Cresson—

"If sassafras tea really does have a drug effect, then thousands of Kentuckians, especially those in rural areas, have been on a trip for years without ever knowing it. For tea brewed from the aromatic roots of the sassafras tree has been a blood-thinning, system-toning pick-me-up tonic that has been quipped by perhaps seven generations of people in this state."

STUDENT AID — Over half the students on the campus of Eastern State University, Richmond, are receiving some kind of financial assistance. The student aid amounts to more than $2½ million a year, said Herbert Vesico, director of student aid. Greatest amount is from the National Defense Student Loan fund and the Economic Opportunity Act of 1965. Under the latter, students are employed part time on a work-study basis.

KENTUCKIANA — One of the best sources of Kentucky history is the John Wilson Townsend collection in the library at Eastern State University, Richmond. It contains more than 8,700 books, and numerous letters, maps, pictures and pamphlets collected by Townsend, the well known Kentucky author for whom the collection is named. Included are 1,700 books on early Kentucky and an extensive pamphlet file from early years, also reproductions of early maps of stage and steamboat routes in the state. Many of the books are out-of-print editions that now are very valuable.

MORE VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS — Board of directors of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce at their last meeting, recommended that more residential facilities be established at area vocational schools on a regional basis as specific needs justify, and suggested that high school students be introduced to vocational education and oriented to employment fields at an earlier age than is now practiced. The suggested procedure, according to the recommendation, could decrease the number of dropouts from vocational programs in later years and eliminate many wasted years that occur in young people's careers due to the wrong career selection at the time they reach employment age.

SELLING RESTAURANTS

Auctioning of Daniel Boone Fried Chicken restaurants has been started in Kentucky to comply with a U. S. District Court order dissolving the insolvent corporation. Three restaurants were auctioned this week for a total of $151,000. Lum's on US-60 at Frankfort brought $86,000. The Trading Post and another Daniel Boone restaurant at Frankfort brought $63,000.

Elderly Persons In Area May Phone For Information

MOREHEAD, Ky. — Elderly persons in 15 counties of Northeast Kentucky have a new, concerned friend at Morehead State University.

Mrs. Carol Pellegrino heads the new referral service of MSU's Institute on the Aging. Her attention is available to any person, agency or organization needing information for senior citizens.

The new service, which may be telephoned collect at 784-9229, is equipped to answer questions regarding Social Security benefits, public and private housing, finances and budgeting, leisure time, nursing homes, transportation, legal services, mental health, homemaking, medical facilities, education and employment.

Counties covered include Bracken, Robertson, Mason, Lewis, Fleming, Bath, Montgomery, Menifee, Rowan, Morgan, Elliott, Carter, Boyd and Lawrence.

The referral service's mailing address is Box 739, Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

HOST SPEAKS TO PRESTONSBURG

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. — Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor James Host has called Eastern Kentucky "the only remaining frontier in the nation so rich in natural resources and yet so undeveloped."

Speaking before an audience of about 300 at Jenny Wiley State Park Saturday, Host said the state's future development depends largely on the progress of Eastern Kentucky in the next four years.

"We are also obligated," he said, "to wipe out the poverty image, create a self-supporting economy and thus ease the burden of welfare and public aid on all tax-paying people."

MORE THAN HALF OF ECU STUDENTS RECEIVE AID TOTALING $2.5 MILLION

RICHMOND, Ky. — Eastern Kentucky University students are receiving more than $2.5 million in financial assistance from private and public sources, according to Herb Vesico, director of student aid. He said more than half of the students at Eastern receive some kind of financial help. The greatest amount of dollar help comes through National Defense Student Loans and Educational Opportunity Grants, which total $350,000 this year; the College Work-Study Program, $429,000; Law Enforcement Loans and grants, $219,000; and Nursing, $58,000.

BOONE PARKWAY LET

Bizzack Bros. Construction Co. of Frankfort was low bidder on constructing 5.2 miles of the Daniel Boone Parkway in Perry county. The low bid was $5,557,920.

LIVING COSTS UP

The cost of living rose by 1.1 percent in January, the lowest monthly increase in four years, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The rate of rise had been 0.5 percent in December for a total of 5.5 percent in 1970.

KENTUCKY MAY SOON BECOME TOP COAL PRODUCING STATE IN NATION

Kentucky is now the nation's second largest producer of coal, and soon may become the top producing state in the nation, Mines and Minerals Commissioner H. N. Kirkpatrick told a Frankfort civic club this week.

Kentucky ranks only behind West Virginia in production of coal, but "the experts predict that in a few years Kentucky will be the No. 1 coal producing state," Kirkpatrick said.

He said Muhlenberg County in Western Kentucky ranks first in the nation as a coal-producing county, with approximately 20 million tons yearly. Pike County in Eastern Kentucky is the top underground coal-producing county in the United States, with 19 million tons, he said.

The Hamilton mine in West Kentucky just opened and will be the largest underground mine in the world—25,000 tons per day," Kirkpatrick said. "Three large underground mines are going to be opened in Martin County—25 miles of railroad to be built will open up the entire territory."

The commissioner disputed the complaint of one coal operator, Louis Howard of London, who said federal safety regulations have caused a sharp decline in the number of licensed mines.

Howard was quoted in an Associated Press story Sunday as saying 610 mines were licensed in 1969 and 2,057 in 1970. He said the department closed 111 mines completely and 30 partly in 1969, and closed 139 last year plus 19 partial closings.

The facts are, Kirkpatrick said, that 1,650 mines were licensed in 1969 and 2,057 in 1970. He said the department closed 111 mines completely and 30 partly in 1969, and closed 139 last year plus 19 partial closings.

US-460 Sector May Be Raised Near W. L.

Boyd Blair, Dr. William Holbrook and Arnold Richard were in Frankfort last week conferring with State Highway Commissioner B. E. King to propose that U. S. 460 be raised along Little Caney where it frequently floods. Subsequently engineers visited the area to make estimates on the project.

Tax Filing Deadline For Some Farmers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Kentucky farmers and fishermen who did not file a declaration of estimated Federal income tax by January 15 may have a tax deadline by March 1.

Robert J. Dath, District Director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, said today that if you earned at least two-thirds of your 1970 gross income from farming or fishing but did not file an estimate by January 15, you must file your 1970 Federal income tax return and pay any tax due by Monday, March 1, 1971, avoid penalty for underpayment of estimated tax.

Delay In Burley Quota Sought Until Vote On Poundage Is Arranged

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House Agriculture Committee's tobacco division on Tuesday approved a resolution authorizing further delay in proclaiming burley tobacco acreage allotments for 1971, despite questions raised by Kentucky's Rep. Tim Lee Carter.

And the full House and Senate Tobacco Committee was due to consider the matter later this week, possibly Wednesday or Thursday.

Under current law, the Secretary of Agriculture is required to proclaim the allotments by March 1—next Monday—unless the delay is approved to permit Congress time to act on a proposed poundage quota system for this year's crop.

It was the possible effect of such a system on small-crop farmers that raised Carter's questions.

Carter, representative of the 5th District, suggested that the plan would harm the small farmer and suggested that the Agriculture Department support some protection for small growers from production cutbacks.

Joseph J. Todd, deputy director of the department's tobacco division, said it would be difficult to assess the proposal's effects on small farmers, but said he personally support its adoption.

Tobacco interests are urging approval of the poundage plan because they say it would be a more effective means of curbing production, to assure that burley supplies are more nearly in line with demand.

Currently, the secretary cuts acreage allotments to attempt to check production, at no allotment of one-half acre or less can be reduced. Under the poundage plan, all reductions would be effective across the board.

The proposed elimination of the minimum allotment feature has caused Carter to raise questions about the poundage plan. In his district, 57 per cent of the allotments are protected from any reduction.

"Wouldn't it (the poundage plan) hurt the status of the small farmer a great deal?" Carter asked Todd.

"That's hard to say," Todd replied. The effect on the small farmer would depend on whether he had income from other activities on his farm, Todd said.

Favors Cuts For All
In reply to another question, he said it is possible that a poundage plan could contribute to the migration from rural to urban areas.

"Don't you feel the small farmer should be protected . . . so he can make a living? Carter asked. Later he asked Todd's opinion of a minimum poundage quota of 1,750 pounds for one-half acre.

Todd said he would be opposed to such a step. "I think all our farmers are going to have to be cut," he said.

Todd said that increased yields of tobacco have undermined the effectiveness of acreage controls. "We can't get the reduction (in production) we need" by cutting acreage allotments, he said.

He noted that a 10-month surplus of burley is now on hand and warned that acreage allotments would have to be cut by at least 30 per cent this year if the poundage plan isn't adopted.

Within 30 days after allotments are proclaimed, farmers will vote to accept or reject the system of federal price supports and production controls. A two-thirds majority is needed to ratify the program.

Todd said after the hearing that May 1 is the latest the Agriculture Department will wait, but said he hopes the quotas will be set before then.

Wrigley Clinches Conf. Championship

The Wildcats of Wrigley Elementary roared to the Morgan County Junior High Basketball Conference Championship Friday evening by defeating Morgan County Junior High, 64-39. The victory gave the Cats a perfect 8-0 conference record.

Lynn Nickell's Devils tied the game early, but trailed, 31-16, at the half. And third-quarter scoring rampaged by the Wrigley lads ended hopes for the Little Devils.

Wrigley was led by Rocky Howard, who banged in 26 points. Kevin Rathiff scored 14 points on long-range shots. Steve O'Connor scored 11 points and did a good job on the boards. Gary Ferguson and Ralph Rathiff scored 8 and 5 points, respectively.

Hank Allen and Kim Lykins got 12 each for the Little Devils.

Wrigley Coach Glen Whitt told reporters that a good team effort and a hustling defense was responsible for his team's victory Friday.

Wrigley shot 80 percent at the foul line while Morgan County Junior High hit only 25 percent of their free throws.

Publicity, like fire, can be friend or foe.

JOHN Y. IS STARTING NEW PROJECT AND FINANCING IT WITH A BOOK

JOHN Y. BROWN

John Y. Brown, noted and colorful lawyer from Lexington, has taken many an "impossible" court case, and has won a goodly number of them. Now sprightly at age 70, John Y. has taken a new project—organizing and financing a foundation to do research on aging.

To help finance the project he is donating all proceeds from the sale of his book, THE LEGEND OF THE PRAYING COLONELS (of Centre College), 140-page paper-back volume in which he has recreated for history one of the most romantic and exciting eras in college football—the seven years of 1917-24 when little Centre College of Danville, Ky. produced grid teams that ranked at the top in America, won the National Football Championship and placed Bo McMillan, Red Weaver and Red Roberts on Walter Camp's All-American Team.

John Y. speaking at an inter-city meeting of the West Liberty Kiwanis Club last week, revealed how he came to organize the research project on aging (with Dr. Randy Shein of Louisville as its head), and then with his raconteur's talent for story telling, transfixed his listeners with accounts of many fateful plays in crucial games that helped the Praying Colonels ascend the pinnacle of American football fame.

And no one else could tell it so well. For Brown was a scrub on the Centre team and a classmate of Bo McMillan, Weaver and Roberts.

Perhaps explaining his enigmatic successes, John Y. early in his West Liberty talk admitted that most men live two lives—their regular life and another vicarious life.

And it is the incidents often apparently minor ones, in the vicarious life that so often determines fates, Brown said.

To illustrate, he told how incidents of fate brought McMillan, Weaver and Roberts to little Centre, a college of only 200 students, and how the great coach, Charley Moran was led to Centre to build them and the other praying Colonels into the nation's top grid team, that beat Harvard when that Ivy Leaguer was rated tops in the nation.

And vicarious incidents often decided games. For instance, Red Weaver with Centre on the 58 yard line on fourth down, dropped back to punt—but in a flash decided not to punt but to drop kick, and he made it, winning a crucial game by three points, and kicking further than he ever knew he could, until then.

Thereafter, Weaver used to entertain the pre-game crowds by drop-kicking across both goals from the 50-yard line. And it was just an incident that led John Y. to start the project to do research on aging. Waiting for a haircut in a barber shop, he picked up an old Pageant magazine, passed over some breezy stories and fixed his eyes on an article headed "Old Age—a Disease We Can Cure", and read it. This set up a chain of ideas that has led to organizing the project, enlisting four doctors and a Texas businessman, seemingly impossible. But they're now at work.

And John Y. has great expectations from the research. Age, through its long experience, has wisdom—and this wisdom should be used, Brown thinks. And he cited many oldsters who had helped change the world. Like Dr. John Dalton, the British physicist who propounded the atomic theory of matter back in 1803 and told scientists if they could split the atom they would have more power than ever known before. And of Einstein and others who nearly 200 years later discovered how to split the atom. And of Franklin who at 86 helped frame our Constitution; and of Moses who in old age led the Children of Israel for four years in the wilderness—and others who in older age have contributed much to humanity's upward climb.

He concluded by quoting Browning—
Come grow old along with me.

The best of life is yet to be—
The last for which the first was made. . . and cheer from his listeners drowned out the last sentence.

Later, in the restaurant (Don's) Brown autographed dozens of his LEGEND OF THE PRAYING COLONELS which he sold to those who heard his talk.

Among the listeners were—

COUPON COLLECTORS ARE ASKED TO DONATE THEM FOR KIDNEY MACHINE

Morgan Countians can help two state organizations purchase an artificial kidney for some needy Kentucky patient. Purchase of the machine will mean more years of life to the patient selected to receive it. But time is running out.

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs and the Jaycees have continued their campaign, hoping to collect enough coupons to purchase another artificial kidney. To date they have collected 400,000.

But the food firm is stopping its coupon program May 15, still some 200,000 short of the 600,000 coupons needed.

The G. C. Banks Circle of the West Liberty Christian Church has adopted the task of collecting the coupons in this area and urges everyone to clip the General Mills coupons and mail them to the G. C. Banks Circle, West Liberty, Ky. 41472, or to the state chairman for the campaign, Mrs. G. G. Gorbardt, 8407 Watterson Trail, Louisville, Ky., before the May 15 deadline.

The artificial kidney to be used by Mrs. Slack is the second to become available recently. After the death recently of Leo A. Bleemel of Mount Washington, state representative for the 31st District, his wife decided to give his machine to someone who can't afford to buy one.

Trooper, Uninjured When Car Overturns, Nabs 2 Rum Haulers

State Police Trooper Kenneth Burton overturned his cruiser early last Friday morning while in pursuit of a traffic violator suspected of hauling bootleg liquor.

He was unhurt, however, and moments later, on foot, stopped two other vehicles from which he and officers confiscated a quantity of alcoholic beverages.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the Vance Fork Road and KY-1000 about 4 a.m. Friday. Burton's car went out of control on loose dirt and overturned.

After stopping the other two vehicles which came by soon after the accident, Trooper Burton radioed other officers who arrived moments later.

Arrested on charges of transporting alcoholic beverages through a local option territory were Robert Markland of Salsyville and Arnold Lee Castle of Paintsville. They were placed in jail at West Liberty and later were released on bond.

Officers theorized that the two vehicles and the third which escaped were traveling in a group.

Earlier the same morning State Police arrested Marvin Borders of Salsyville in the same area for transporting illegal booze.

SOCK HOP FOR HEART FUND SET FRIDAY NIGHT

Mrs. James R. Perry, County Heart Fund Chairman, announces that a sock hop will be held at the high school gym here following the Morgan County-Jackson basketball game Friday night. Proceeds will be donated to the Heart Fund.

A Queen of Hearts will be crowned following the sock hop. Candidates for the title are now soliciting votes for one cent each.

Regarding last Sunday's house to house collection, Mrs. Perry said:

"We sincerely hope that every resident who was away when a heart volunteer called will mail in a 'not-at-home envelope'. We want to be sure that every family in the county has an equal opportunity to support the research, education and community service programs of the Kentucky Heart Association that are helping to control the nation's No. 1 killer, disease of the heart and blood vessels."

"We also hope that workers who have been unable to complete their calls will do so by Sunday, Feb. 28," she added.

Mrs. Perry reported that Coffee Day donations accounted for $132 for the Heart Fund, and a road block for the drive netted $81.38.

10-YEAR SERVICE PIN — Billy Ratliff of Wrigley, central office superintendent for Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative, recently was presented a lapel pin by Bernard Hill, coop manager, for 10 years of service with the cooperative. Mr. Ratliff began working with Mountain Rural in 1960 as a construction employee. Before assuming his present position, he worked as telephone installer, radio dispatcher, and central office technician. He is a graduate of Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville.

OAK HILL AND BLAIRS MILLS

BY MRS. DORA COLLINS

Feb. 22 — Mr. Neute Elam and Mrs. Morton Collins received word recently that their brother, Mr. Willie Elam of Lakeland, Florida passed away Wednesday, Feb. 10. We extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Collins and Stanley called on Mr. and Mrs. Dona Adkins of Little Sandy last Sunday week and visited briefly with Mr. and Mrs. Avery Abrams.

Mrs. Frank Miles, who spent a few days recently in the St. Claire Medical Hospital at Morehead, is home now improving normally.

By the rise of high temperature last week the snow which we have had for so long is all gone. I can see from my window the crocuses are in bloom. Still that in reality, doesn't mean we won't have more snow. We are just hoping spring isn't too far off.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenville Howard of Lytton visited for a while Sunday night with her mother, Mrs. Dora Collins, and Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Clevenger and Lisa.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Collins and Stanley attended church Sunday at the First Church of God West Liberty and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brown of Wrigley.

Mrs. Marlene Clevenger, Lisa and Mrs. Dora Collins enjoyed the piano recital Sunday afternoon given at the Methodist Church of West Liberty. We were invited by my granddaughter, Myra Collins of Wrigley who was one of the piano pupils.

We of this community were saddened by the death of Jessie Jennings, who passed away Wednesday, Feb. 17, in a Lexington hospital. Mr. Jennings was the father of Mrs. Troy Thornberry of Blairs Mills where he spent a portion of the time. I was accompanied to the funeral of Mr. Jennings

Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Thornberry at the Oak Grove United Baptist Church in Rowan County where a large crowd attended. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Those calling on Mr. and Mrs. Estill Kidd, Douglas, Danny, and Mrs. Howe Kegley Sunday afternoon were Mr. Chester Kegley, Mr. and Mrs. Ivis Black, Michael and Patricia.

The new baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Easterling at the Spencer Clinic January 27, weighing 6 lb and 1 oz., has been named Jack Dwayne.

Mrs. Ollen Perry and daughters, Carleen, and Mrs. Wilburn Jennings were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Easterling Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elam of Index spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Collins and girls.

Mrs. Homer Easterling informed me her father, Mr. Donald Roberts of Springfield, Ohio, was still in the hospital suffering from a heart attack, but he was out of intensive care and improving normally.

I'd like for the parents of little Rhonda McKenzie to know I did send a donation to the fund. In looking over the list each week I haven't seen my name. However, in the beginning of the fund I did send a name Leora Collins of West Liberty $5.00 which I supposed was a mistake in spelling my name.

Hackney Closes Its Business

LONDON, Ky. — With no family members remaining to supervise the business, Hackney Bros. and Company, London's oldest business, closed its doors last week after a close-out sale. The firm was established in 1879 and had been conducted regularly since then, until 1968 by some member of the family. When the last one retired, other managers ran the business for two years.

Give — so more will live. Support the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign being conducted here through February.

INLAND MAKING DEEP TEST IN CARTER

Meanwhile, it was learned this week that the Delta Drilling Company from Pennsylvania has moved a giant rotary rig to Carter county and already is at work sinking a deep-test for Inland on acreage a few miles north of Willard. They plan to go to the basement, estimated at 13,000 feet in that area. But the well will be another "light hole", and results of production may never be known.
